| Next Audit | 2018 Maintenance Audit |
| Audit Due Date | April 27, 2018 |

If the company has an employee interested in becoming the company's internal auditor to perform the maintenance audits, they may apply to take the 3 day BASE Internal Auditor training. Information is available on our website at <http://www.bcforestsafe.org/node/87>.

The WorkSafeBC Certificate of Recognition (COR) incentive payment is issued annually by WorkSafeBC to eligible employers. In order to receive a COR incentive payment, an employer must:

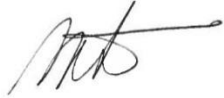

- Be recommended to WorkSafeBC by the BC Forest Safety Council
- Use an eligible auditor to perform the audit
- Be in good standing with WorkSafeBC
- Achieve a passing audit score
- Have an active WorkSafeBC account at the time of the audit

The COR incentive payment, usually paid by WorkSafeBC in June of the year after the audit, is automatically calculated using an employer's assessable payroll and the base rate for the certified classification unit(s) for the audit and incentive year. Additional COR information can be found at <https://www.worksafebc.com/en/health-safety/create-manage/certificate-recognition>. The employer does not need to take any further action in order to receive the COR incentive payment for this audit once they have been recommended to WorkSafeBC.

If you have any questions, please contact us at 1-877-741-1060. We are here to help support industry continue to reduce fatalities and serious injuries.

Sincerely,
